Before Login – Landing page

<https://leed.cepol.europa.eu/>

In the top right corner, you will find the Login, Registration, and Forgot Password options.

The screenshot shows the landing page layout. At the top left is the CEPOL LEEd logo. At the top right, there is a search bar, a blue 'Login' button, and a link for 'Forgot password - Registration'. Below this is a large banner for the 'CEPOL Research and Science Conference: Tackling the world of High-Risk Criminal Networks'. The banner includes a globe graphic, the conference title, a description of the event (March 25-27 in Ostia, Rome), and a 'READ MORE' link. Below the banner are three white boxes with contact information for colleagues, training support, and the Exchange Programme. At the bottom, there is a 'Thematic Areas' section with four image thumbnails.

Thematic areas menu

Once logged in, you will see the main thematic areas of CEPOL training displayed in the central section as flipping blocks.

The screenshot shows the user interface of the CEPOL LEEd platform. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the CEPOL LEEd logo on the left, a search bar, and user profile information (TU) on the right. The main navigation menu includes 'Dashboard', 'My courses', and 'Thematic Areas', with 'Thematic Areas' being the active page. Below the navigation bar, a yellow box highlights the 'Thematic Areas' section. This section displays eight thematic areas as flipping blocks in a 2x4 grid:

- Serious and Organised Crime
- Cyber-related Crime
- Counter Terrorism
- Fundamental Rights
- Law enforcement cooperation, information exchange and interoperability
- Leadership and other skills
- Higher Education and Research
- Public Order and Prevention

On the right side of the grid, there are two blue circular arrows pointing up and down, indicating that the blocks can be scrolled vertically.

CEPOL's courses are organised into thematic areas, each further divided into subcategories to help users easily find the most relevant training activity.

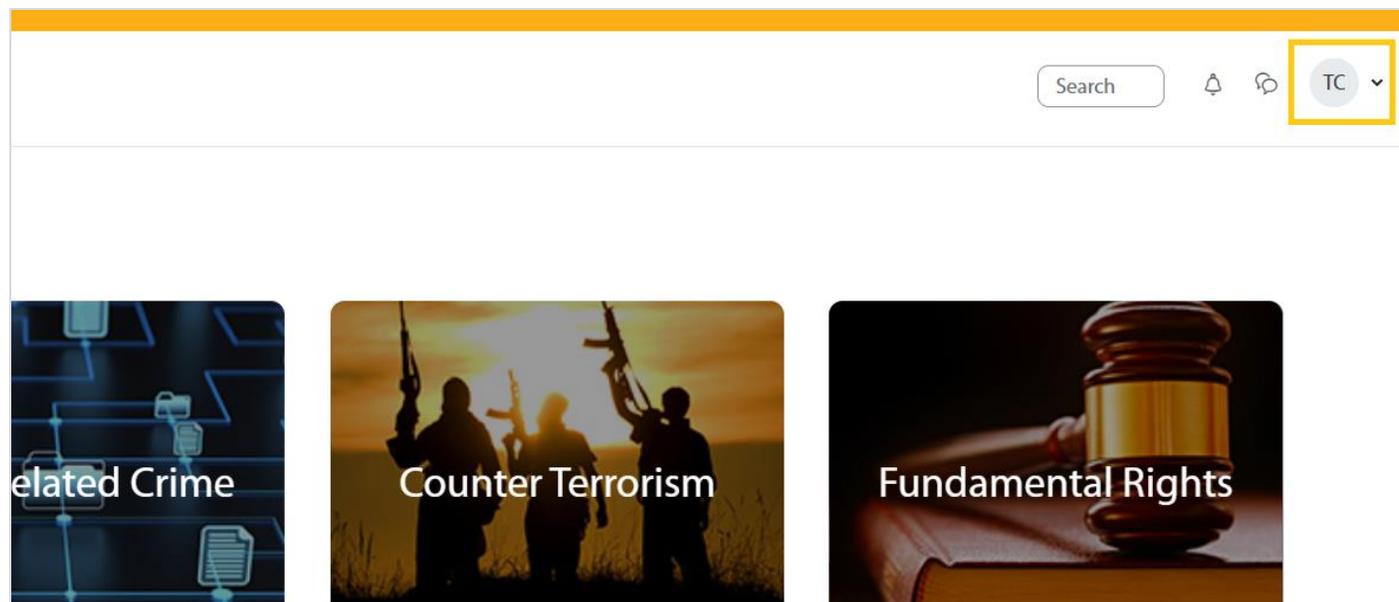

You can flip each area and click to view its subcategories; however, access to course details requires logging in.

Logged in user – Homepage

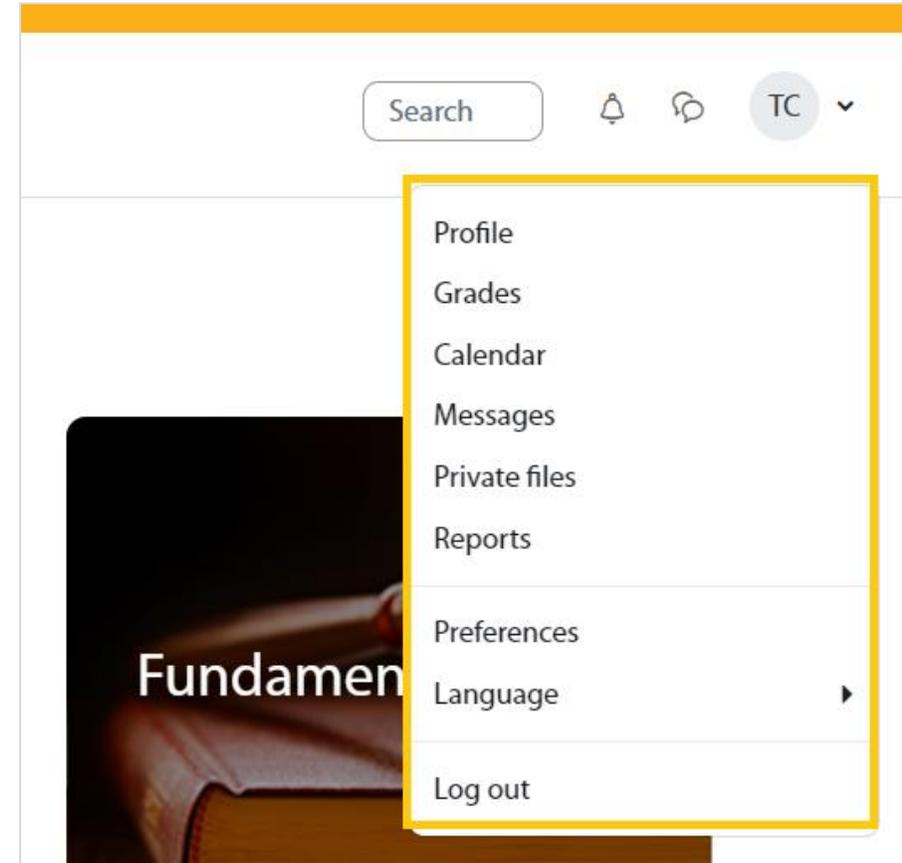

The logged-in user's homepage is similar to the landing page and is also divided into three main sections:

- Thematic Areas
- Popular Courses
- Recommended Courses

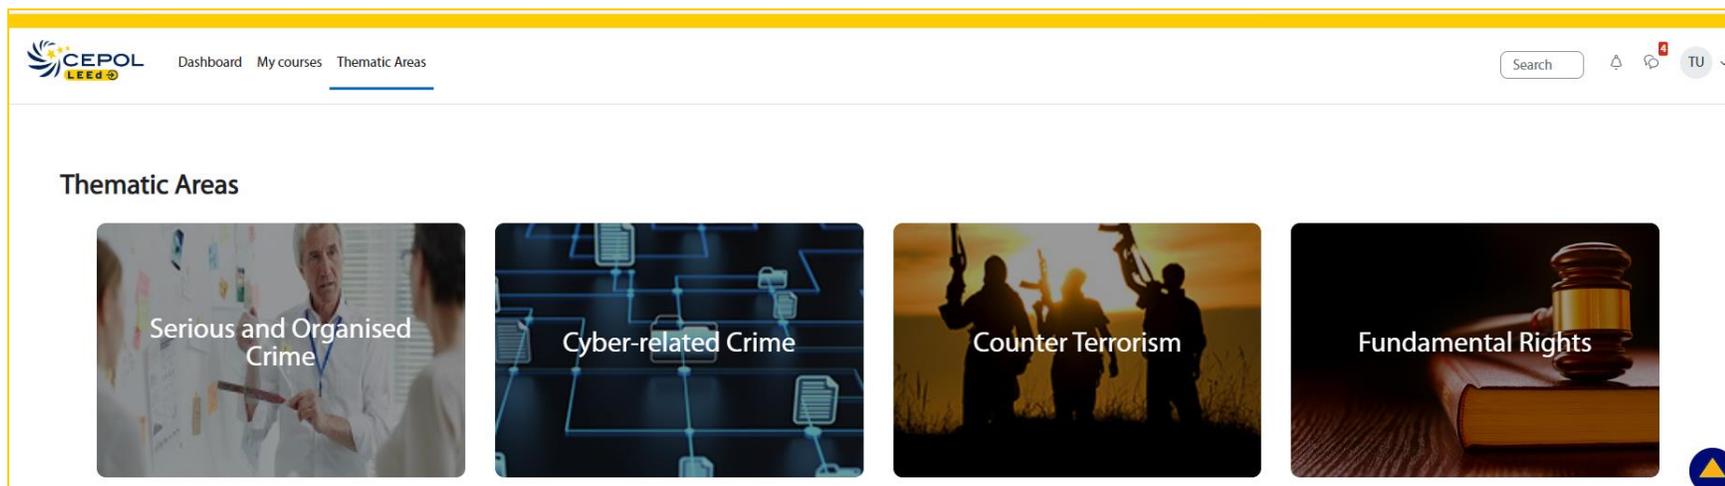

Clicking on the image icon will give the following options:

- Profile
- Grades
- Calendar
- Messages
- Private files
- Preferences
- Language
- Log out

Next to the image icon you will find:

- Messaging tool: allows you to exchange messages with other users on the platform.
- Notifications tool: displays alerts about events and updates related to your courses.
- Search field: enables you to find courses within the platform using specific keywords.

On the top next to the logo:

- Dashboard

Thematic Areas

Dashboard

The Dashboard provides an overview of your progress and upcoming deadlines. You can access it at any time via the quick link located at the top of the page, next to the logo.

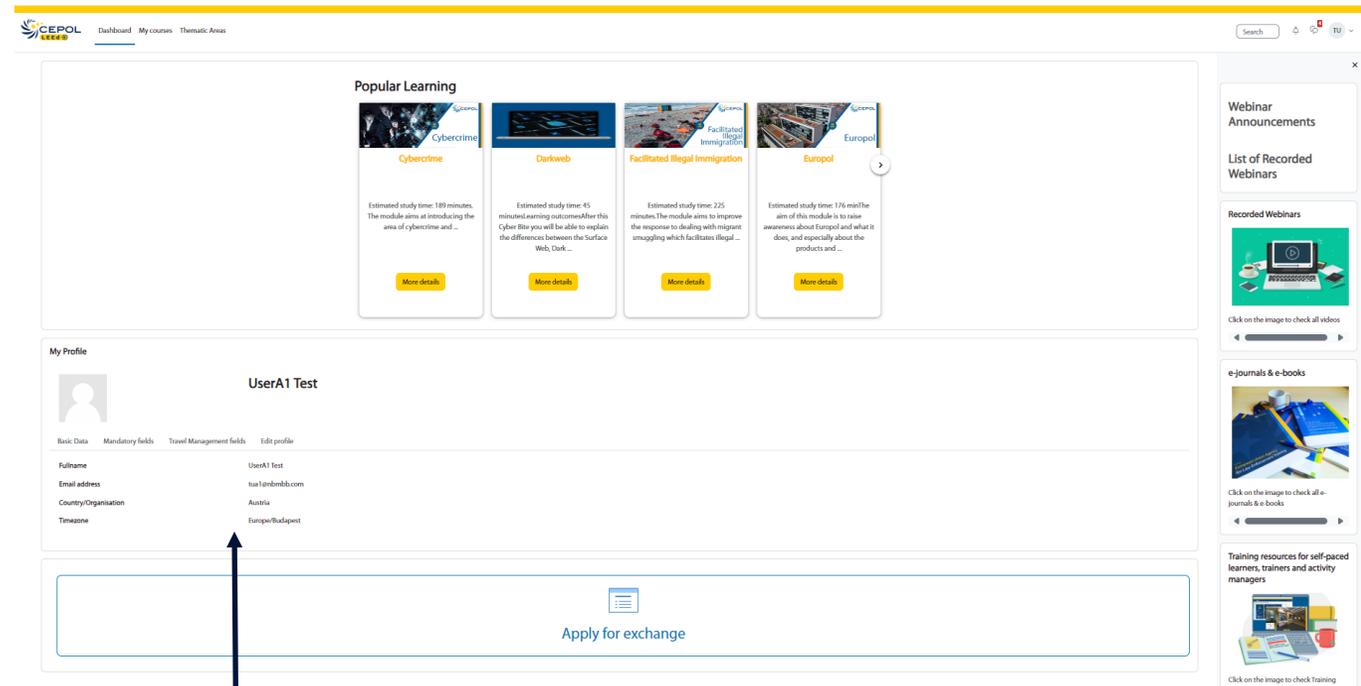

The screenshot shows the CEPOL dashboard interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the CEPOL logo, a search bar, and navigation links for 'Dashboard', 'My courses', and 'Thematic Areas'. A yellow arrow points from the 'Dashboard' link to the main content area.

The main content area is titled 'Popular Learning' and features four course cards: 'Cybercrime', 'Darkweb', 'Facilitated Illegal Immigration', and 'Europol'. Each card includes an estimated study time and a 'More details' button.

On the right side of the page, there is a 'block drawer' which is currently closed. A blue arrow icon in the top right corner is used to open the drawer. A dark blue callout box explains: 'You can open the block drawer by clicking the arrow icon on the right side of the page.' Another dark blue callout box explains: 'You can close the block drawer by clicking on the „x” icon.' A second screenshot on the right shows the drawer open, containing sections for 'Webinar Announcements', 'List of Recorded Webinars', and 'Recorded Webinars'. A white 'x' icon in the top right corner of the drawer is used to close it.

Dashboard

- Popular learning topics
- My profile
- Apply for exchange
- On the block drawer:
- Webinar Announcements
- Recorded Webinars
- E-journals & e-books
- Training resources
- Your rights under GDPR

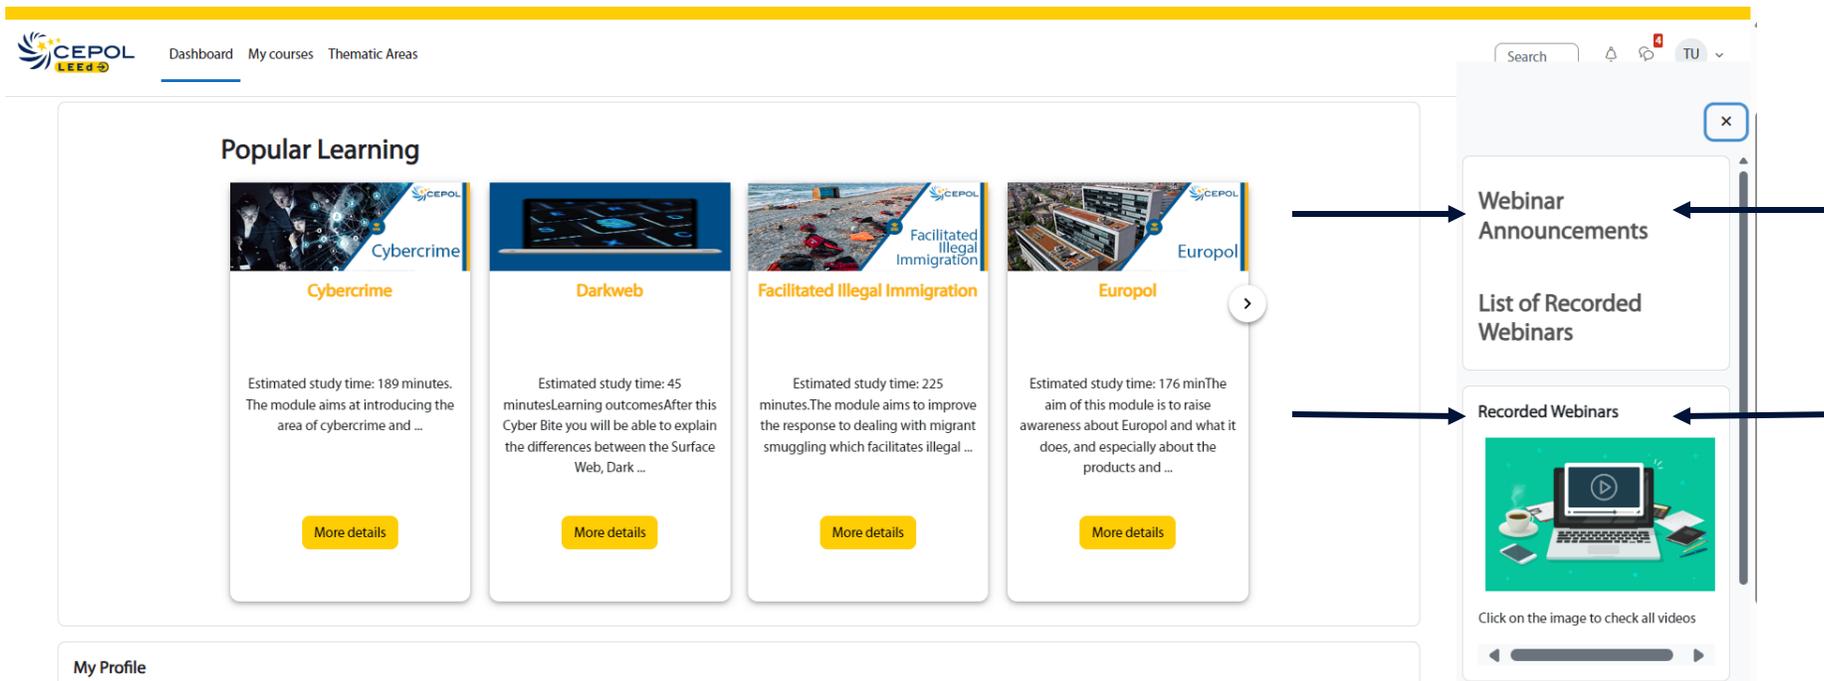

On the Dashboard, you can access your My Profile section, where you have the option to update certain personal details.

Webinars

The top section of the block drawer provides access to:

- Webinar Announcements
- List of Recorded Webinars

The screenshot displays the CEPOL LEEd dashboard interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the CEPOL LEEd logo and links for 'Dashboard', 'My courses', and 'Thematic Areas'. Below this, the 'Popular Learning' section features four course cards: 'Cybercrime', 'Darkweb', 'Facilitated Illegal Immigration', and 'Europol'. Each card includes a thumbnail image, the course title, an estimated study time, a brief description, and a 'More details' button. To the right, a 'Webinars' block drawer is open, showing a search bar, a close button, and two main sections: 'Webinar Announcements' and 'Recorded Webinars'. The 'Recorded Webinars' section includes a video player thumbnail and a caption: 'Click on the image to check all videos'. Arrows indicate the relationship between the course cards and the webinar sections, showing that the 'Cybercrime' and 'Darkweb' cards link to 'Webinar Announcements', while the 'Facilitated Illegal Immigration' and 'Europol' cards link to 'Recorded Webinars'.

e-journals & e-books

Online access: electronic books & journals

Here you can search for high-quality content from a variety of well-established international publications. Access is granted free of charge and users can read, copy or print material for private use, given that the terms of fair use and restrictive copyrights are fully respected.

Two gateways

There are two separate ways to access the content, depending on your priorities and area of interest

1. If you want the most current and in-depth searching, head for one of the specifically subscribed topical ejournals. We provide access to a list of 29 specific ejournal titles, covering a good range of police, law enforcement and specific crime areas with a European emphasis. You will be re-directed the publisher's homepage of the respective journals.
2. The broadest choice of material is accessible through the EBSCO Discovery Service portal, including online-book titles and more than 500 law enforcement-related journals (abstracts and articles).

Either way, a new window will open in your browser and you will be transferred to the external servers, where the material is stored. Doesn't work? Check the section on trouble-shooting.

CEPOL's specific e-Journals collection

How you get there:

When clicking the "CEPOL's specific e-Journals collection" link above, you will be forwarded to a link-list, where you have to select the journal by clicking (again) the "Full-text access" link. Then you will be transferred to the official website of the journal, where you can search or browse all subscribed issues for specific articles.

If you have concerns regarding your personal data, you can use the link in the “Do you want to know your rights under EU-GDPR?” section, located at the bottom of the right column. This link redirects you to a page where you can request the extraction or removal of your data from the site.

This feature allows you to manage your personal data in line with the EU-GDPR policy and to learn more about CEPOL’s data protection practices.

Course overview & Browse a course

You can find the course overview by clicking My courses on the top of the page.

From the course overview, you can access the courses Recorded webinars video repository

The screenshot shows the 'My courses' page on the CEPOL LEEd platform. The navigation bar includes 'Dashboard', 'My courses', and 'Thematic Areas'. A search bar and user profile 'TU' are also visible. The main content area is titled 'Thematic Areas' and displays a grid of eight course categories, each with a representative image and text:

- Serious and Organised Crime
- Cyber-related Crime
- Counter Terrorism
- Fundamental Rights
- Law enforcement cooperation, information exchange and interoperability
- Leadership and other skills
- Higher Education and Research
- Public Order and Prevention

Navigation arrows (up and down) are located to the right of the grid.

Finding courses through Search field

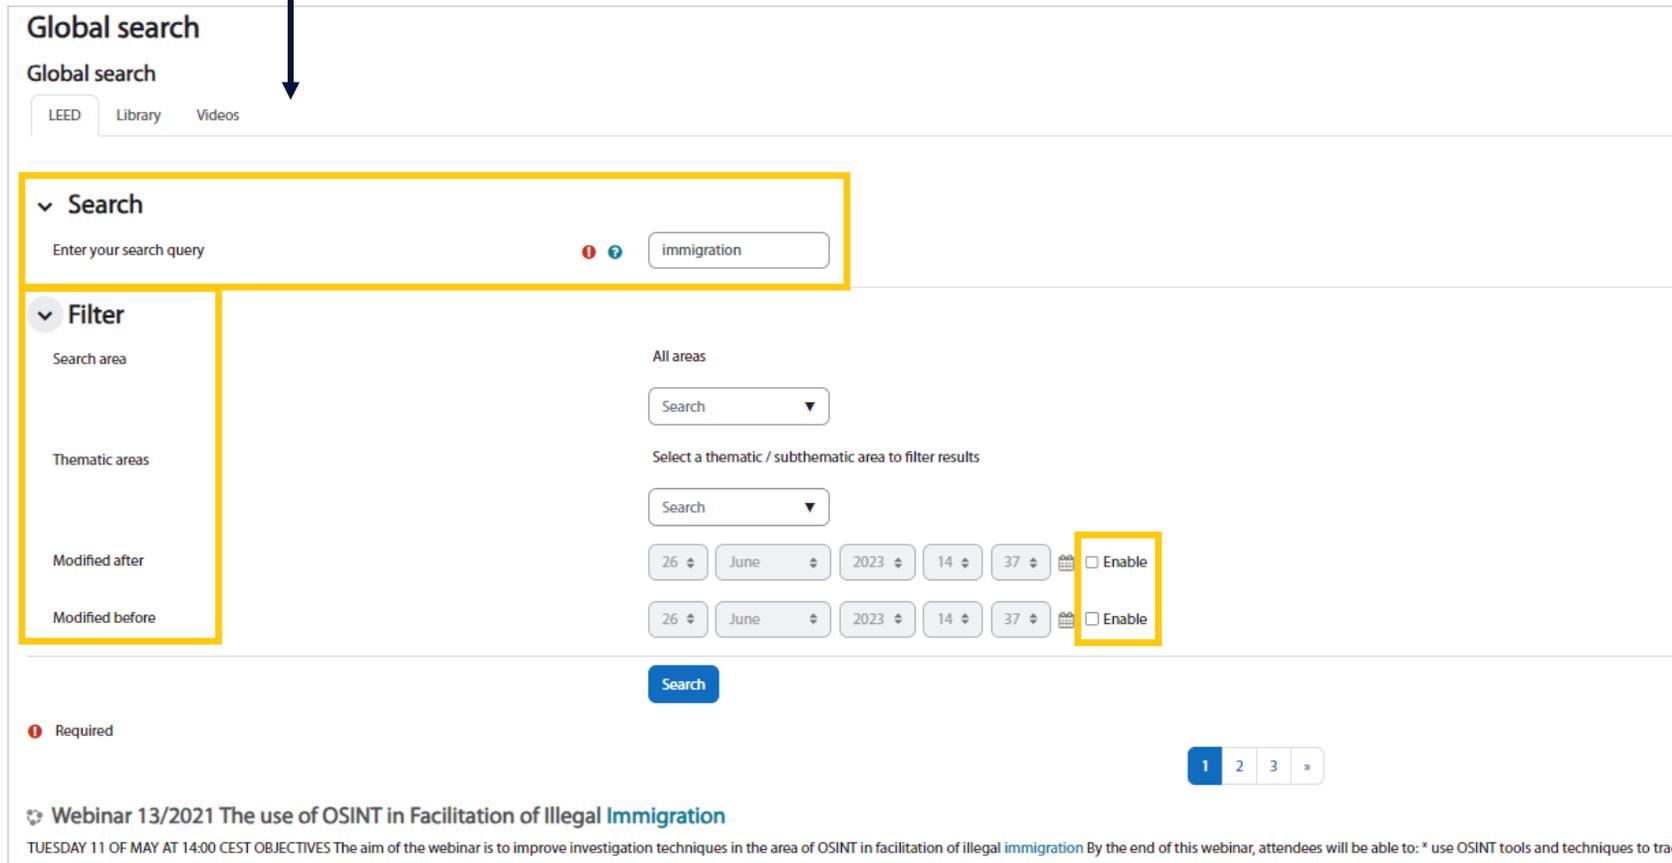

To search for a course on e.g. Immigration, use the search bar, type a keyword (e.g., Immigration), and press Enter.

The screenshot shows the CEPOL LEEd user interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the CEPOL LEEd logo on the left and a search bar on the right containing the text 'immigrati'. Below the navigation bar, the 'Thematic Areas' section is displayed as a grid of eight cards. The cards are arranged in two rows of four. The first row contains: 'Serious and Organised Crime', 'Cyber-related Crime', 'Counter Terrorism', and 'Fundamental Rights'. The second row contains: 'Law enforcement cooperation, information exchange and interoperability', 'Leadership and other skills', 'Higher Education and Research', and 'Public Order and Prevention'. To the right of the grid, there are two blue arrow buttons, one pointing up and one pointing down, indicating a scrollable list. The word 'INTELLECTUAL' is partially visible at the bottom of the last card in the second row.

Searching courses through the 'Thematic Areas' menu

Another way to search for a course is through the landing page, where the Thematic Areas are displayed.

Flip the thematic area of your choice and click the relevant subcategory link (e.g., Serious and Organised Crime). You will then be redirected to the subcategory page, where you can browse and select the available courses.

- The subcategory courses are displayed in a table with the following columns: course title (linked to the course page), target audience, activity type (online or onsite), delivery method (collaborative, instructor-led, or self-paced), event type, required experience level, certification availability, and duration.
- You can filter the courses using the drop-down menus in the first row, as shown below.
- Alternatively, you can use the keyword filter field on the right to refine your search.
