Foreword

The Single Programming Document (SPD) 2016 spans over a period of three years, covering the period 2016-2018. The current strategy of CEPOL², as approved by its Governing Board, still remains the main drive for identifying activities and setting targets for the period at hand. At the same time, the programming at CEPOL should anticipate and pave the ground for the challenges that lie ahead of us. It is the first attempt by CEPOL to implement the guidelines³ for programming developed by the European Commission in close cooperation with the Agencies' Performance Development Network (PDN).

Ten years after the entry into force of Council Decision 2005/681/JHA⁴ establishing CEPOL, a new legal basis – this time a Regulation – is expected to come into force by July 2016. This Act projects CEPOL at the very centre of European law enforcement as a key training provider. Whilst the agency retains its network character, thus enabling it to continue to build on the long-standing tradition of engaging with Member States, its new governance structure and the ambitious mandate attributed to it by the new legislation are anticipated on one hand to streamline the agency's decision making processes, and on the other hand to raise the quality of training at European level.

A wider target group of law enforcement officials has been identified as the community CEPOL should serve; and whilst not departing radically from the current legal basis, the new Regulation gives CEPOL a coordination and implementation role. The new mandate constitutes at the same time a challenge and an opportunity for CEPOL, as there is an evident disparity between an ambitious role envisaged, and a less-impressive amount of resources put at its disposal in the current financial framework. Overcoming these challenges whilst taking advantage of the opportunities will require a careful approach to find the right balance between the means available and the legitimate expectations of the EU Member States, the wider stakeholders' community, as well as those of the European institutions.

Section 1 – General Context

The three-year period (2016-2018) covered by this document, represents a turning point in CEPOL's history. The year 2016 in particular, will find CEPOL on the verge of a transition phase moving, from the current towards a new legal basis. The analysis of the new legal text in conjunction with a series of key policy documents in the Justice and Home Affairs (JHA) domain has revealed the magnitude of the changes that are anticipated, and the challenges that need to be addressed.

Recent, key documents such as the European Law Enforcement Training Scheme (LETS)⁵, read in conjunction with the European Agendas on Security⁶ and Migration⁷ respectively, the European Union Counter-Terrorism Strategy⁸, and the Cybersecurity Strategy⁹ constitute de facto a new European law enforcement training policy framework.

It needs to be clarified that, at the moment, the implications of these documents on the mandate, functioning and the activities of CEPOL are indeed to be framed in the long term as they involve a multiplicity of actors and measures. Hence, the implementation of the new legal basis should be seen as a gradual (step-by-step) process; it is then reasonable to expect that CEPOL shall reach its 'cruising speed' in progressive stages, and with due consideration to the resources the agency will be able to mobilise during the period covered by this programming document.

In the new European Agenda on Security⁶ training is identified for the first time as a key supporting action along with five overarching priorities:

1. Full compliance with fundamental rights
2. Transparency, accountability and democratic control
3. Better application and implementation of existing EU legal instruments
4. A more joined-up inter-agency and a cross-sectorial approach
5. Bring together all internal and external dimensions of security.

These strategic priorities are complemented by a thematic approach which identifies Terrorism, Organised Crime and Cybercrime as the key security challenges CEPOL should tackle.

In particular, it must be emphasised that the issues of Migration and Terrorism are at the forefront of Europe's political agenda today- and it is not unreasonable to believe they will remain so in the medium term. CEPOL strives and will continue to commit itself to supporting the EU Member States tackle these challenges with tailor-made, specific training activities.

Given the wider target group established by the new legal basis, and having due regard to the specificities of key actors in the law enforcement sector such as Customs and Border Guards (where these are not part of a national police service) while acknowledging the distinct roles and diversified training requirements of Judges and Prosecutors, it is realistic to foresee that joint, multi-disciplinary trainings are likely to increase following the entry into force of the CEPOL regulation.

Section II – Resource programming for the years 2016-2018

Human and financial resource-outlook for years 2016-2018

Overview of the past and current situation

Staff population overview for 2015:

In 2015 CEPOL has 27 Temporary Agents positions, 10 Contract Agent positions and 10 SNEs. With regards to the 10 SNE position, this includes 4 positions that have been made available only for 2015 as a mitigating action to the identified risk of increased staff turnover as a result of the relocation of CEPOL to Budapest in October 2014.

In addition to these 47 posts, it has been necessary for the Agency to employ a number of interim staff to assist in the delivery of support to operational activities, especially with regards to participants travel and the European Police Exchange Programme, Normally interim staff is used to temporarily fill positions left by staff due to long-term absence (maternity/parental leave, long-time sickness) or to fill the gap after resignation before the completion of a recruitment procedure.

In 2015, the Commission confirmed that, within the budgetary envelope, CEPOL would be allowed to increase the number of contract agents. Based on this confirmation, CEPOL suggests to re-balance the number of SNEs and 'structural' interims towards CAs.

SNEs are a precious yet precarious resource, as they can be recalled by the sending authorities at very short notice; this can be at times detrimental for business continuity.

Furthermore, the costs for Contract Agents is in most cases similar or lower than that of SNEs. CEPOL is seeking ways to re-balance the use of its valuable human resources by carefully assessing which type of staff is most suited to fill a particular role.

On this very same argument, a case could be made to substitute the so-called "structural interims" (i.e. interims whose tasks have been found to be re-occurring) with Contract Agents, as the costs for these profiles are comparable to staff employed as contract agents.

Resource outlook over the years 2016 to 2018A) New tasks:

A new legal basis for CEPOL is about to be finalised by the co-legislators. It sets ambitious goals for the agency, setting new tasks. This new legal basis, when read in conjunction with other key documents such as the Commission Communication on the European Law Enforcement Training Scheme, evidences the following key new elements:

- Production of multi-annual Strategic Training Needs Assessment for European law enforcement training;
- Implementation of Capacity Building activities in Third Countries (in particular Candidate and ENP countries), with an option for CEPOL to manage dedicated external assistance funds;
- Assessment of EU level initiatives in the area of capacity building in Third Countries;

- Tasks associated with the (possible) establishment of a Scientific Committee for Training;
- Promotion of the mutual recognition of law enforcement training;
- A Coordination role for European law enforcement training initiatives.

It is not possible at this point in time to estimate with a high degree of certainty the detailed impact of these new tasks on the agency's Human Resources component. However, the estimated needs contained in the independent study²³ financed by the European Commission in 2012, stating that 12 new posts (at AD level) would be necessary for the agency to address the challenges of a renewed/extended mandate, can still be considered as realistic.

B) Growth of existing tasks:

The new legal basis, in addition to setting new tasks for the agency, also develops extensively the existing ones. Notably, the draft Regulation enhances the following key aspects:

- Substantial extension of CEPOL's target audience, from "senior police officers" to "law enforcement officials", as defined by individual EU Member States and including EU staff dealing with tasks related to serious crime, public order, crisis management, terrorism;
- Widened role in promoting and supporting Research relevant for training;
- Enhanced reporting obligations vis-à-vis the European Institutions;
- Enhanced focus on quality of training;
- Enhanced role in fostering public/private partnerships and cooperation with a wider range of interlocutors in the public international sector.

Along the lines of what was explained in the previous section, it is not possible at this point in time to estimate with a high degree of certainty the detailed impact of these new tasks on the agency's Human Resources component. However, the estimated needs contained in the independent study²⁴ financed by the European Commission in 2012, stating that 12 new posts (at AD level) would be necessary for the agency to address the challenges of a renewed/extended mandate, can still be considered as realistic.

An important structural consideration must be made: successive expert analyses of CEPOL have identified that the agency operates with a deficit of human resources to carry out its current tasks, let alone enhanced or new ones.

The Five Year Evaluation of CEPOL published in 2011 recommended that the capacity of the agency be strengthened. Similar findings have been made in the GHK report commissioned by the European Commission, previously cited.

²³ Study on the amendment of the Council Decision 20905/681/JHA setting up CEPOL activity. Final Report 21.4.2012 - GHK Consultants.

²⁴ Study on the amendment of the Council Decision 20905/681/JHA setting up CEPOL activity. Final Report 21.4.2012 - GHK Consultants.

CEPOL is recognised partner among policy makers and practitioners; the demand for CEPOL training has been constantly increasing while the resources allocated to the agency have remained almost unchanged. Whilst the agency is investigating all avenues to prioritise and satisfy the legitimate training needs within the given resource framework, it has reached the limits of internal resource reshuffling.

Relevance of e-learning training and learning opportunities has grown considerably since the establishment of the agency, and has become even more relevant in times of the strict austerity. E-learning allows wider outreach and can cater to both awareness and specialist training. E-learning products have become highly demanded and integral part of any training portfolio developed by the agency. In order to maintain and develop this area the agency needs to invest not only into the resources dedicated to e-learning, but into supporting functions, e.g. maintenance and development of its online platform (e-NET). It is a full time job that currently is dispersed among several staff members thus affecting business continuity and coherency.

Knowledge products developed at the European Union level, including by CEPOL, is enormous yet largely dispersed. CEPOL, as knowledge and training institution, constantly works towards the provision of knowledge management tools. In fact, the agency should become a repository of knowledge – a ‘one stop shop’ for training needs. In addition, requirements and needs for police research contributions is increasing. The area of research, science and knowledge management is manned by one AD 5 officer. The current situation poses a high risk of insufficient business continuity and lack of meaningful development.

The European Police Exchange Programme (EPEP) is currently implemented solely by Seconded National Experts, thus affecting the business continuity of the programme and the loss of practical know-how when the seconded staff departs. Whilst the EPEP is greatly appreciated by the law enforcement community, there is a clear issue with sustainability associated with the current financing and implementation arrangements.

The Internal Audit Service in their ICT Risk Assessment concluded that the limited IT staff (currently 2 TA AST officers) and the lack of a proper back up function represents a risk of discontinuity of the IT services. Similarly, the HR function has at present only 1 TA AST and 1 CA FGII position.

The staffing figures did not allow so far to establish certain key posts, e.g. legal advisor. The European Ombudsman acknowledged the lack of a legal officer as a vulnerability within the agency, and recommended that this deficit should be addressed. To solve this important issue, CEPOL is requesting one AD 7 function from 2016 onwards.

The deficits identified above cannot be resolved through reallocation of posts without creating new deficits in other areas of the organisation that will be equally impactful, either operationally or administratively.

C) Efficiency gains:

The Agency has planned the certification for the CEPOL Management System through the implement the ISO 9001:2015 requirements. Following a successful procurement of consultancy and certification services during 2015, a certified Management System would convey a strong message to CEPOL external stakeholders, on a new management and leadership approach to increase legality and regularity in various organisational aspects. It will help to demonstrate the European Police College's commitment to quality. Additionally, the certification will facilitate the achievement of consistency and it will improve internal processes leading to further efficiency gains.

The adoption of an Enterprise Content Management System (ECM) which is planned to begin in 2016 will provide for a digital platform in the way documents are received, created, processed, stored and circulated. This will considerably impact the way the daily business is managed rendering it much faster and organised.

Successive evaluations of CEPOL have found the agency to be both efficient and effective.

One of the tasks of EU level training is to build a unified culture of policing within the EU, as well as ensuring that there is coherence in the EU's response to the capacity building needs outside the EU. This calls for further harmonisation of the efforts at the EU level in order to achieve comparable standard of cross border law enforcement cooperation, ultimately required for protection of the safety of the EU citizens. Since 2013 CEPOL applies principles of the European Law Enforcement Training Scheme in defining the priorities. Training needs identified are analysed and adequate learning methods selected applying a portfolio approach, e.g. common curricula are used to support national wide entry level training needs, online solutions are offered for professionalization needs, while residential activities are predominantly used for development of specialist skills, building expert knowledge. To facilitate achievement of this goal CEPOL delivers training in using the following channels at EU level through a variety of training and learning activities, thus contributing to building bridges between law enforcement professionals:

- Residential training: CEPOL organises 70 - 75 residential activities a year, annually bringing together, on average, 2,500 police officers and experts. Residential activities is undisputedly the most effective tool for furthering specialist skills, building international expert networks, exchange of good practices. As a principle, CEPOL uses this tool for specialist training rather than awareness. It is expected to train 6300 police officers in 2016-2018.

- Extensive use of E-learning training opportunities has ensured the constant increase of impact and outreach of CEPOL's training and learning (7912 participants trained in 2014 through e-learning options in comparison to 5556 participants in 2013, and 3626 participants in 2012). It consists of several products, such as online modules and webinars. Online modules provide self-paced learning options on specific subjects. Webinars (online seminars) are offered to the Member States providing law enforcement officers with an easy-to-implement and cost-effective learning tool. Webinars are ideal for short, interactive training sessions, either pre-planned or implemented at relatively short notice in order to cater to ad hoc immediate training needs; further significant developments in the area of e-learning are hampered by resource limitations preventing further development of ICT environment. However despite insufficient resources, popularity of the CEPOL e-learning products is growing it is expected to train more than 20,000 law enforcement officers in 2016-2018.

- Common Curricula and training manuals/materials can be ideal for training harmonisation across the EU. Survey mapping EU law enforcement training conducted by CEPOL on behalf of the European Commission demonstrates that this type of training products are high in demand and would improve awareness of cross border cooperation tools at the entry level of the police. Development of these products is resource demanding especially in terms of staffing therefore space for further developments is very limited.

- European Police Exchange Programme (EPEP): at its 3010th General Affairs meeting, the Council of the European Union called for CEPOL to implement a European Police Exchange Programme initially for four years, however the planned funding for this programme was not provided, and this has resulted in difficulties to expand and sustain the Programme. Since 2011, EPEP has significantly increased its contribution to raising awareness of EU law enforcement cooperation through the introduction of study visits to JHA agencies and bodies, such as Europol, Frontex, OLAF and EMCDDA. Since 2013 the EPEP has been opened to the European Union Candidate, European Neighbourhood, Eastern Partnership countries responding to the needs of external aspects of the EU security. Priority topics for EPEP are fully aligned with the EU policy areas, such as the EU Policy Cycle and security threats identified by Serious and Organised Crime Threat Assessment (SOCTA). Despite the programme being high on demand and its clear link to EU priorities as it contributes to building a common culture and exchange of practices, but due to lack of resources and increasing costs of other products it is possible that the EPEP will need to be implemented at a significantly reduced scale. In 2011-2014 around 1300 police officers and experts were participants of the EPEP. It is expected to train 1200 police officers through EPEP in 2016-2018, subject to availability of resources.

- Research and science: CEPOL's current mandate in the area of research and science is limited to monitoring and dissemination of the research materials. For this purpose CEPOL has mapped existent law enforcement research and science centres, regularly (2-3 times per year) publishes bulletins giving an overview of research findings both in the EU and internationally. E-library is another product, which gives access to the law enforcement institutions to research materials and it is expected to increase the volume of available materials.

- CEPOL has been building a pool of experts through Lecturers, Researchers and Trainers Database since 2013. This tool supports selection of experts for CEPOL training and learning activities. Deployment of trainers is conducted through the National Contact Points. Moreover, CEPOL is able to assist other training institutions, organisations with expert data.

- CEPOL monitors the efficiency and effectiveness of the agency through the use of Key Performance Indicators. The use of KPIs enables the management of CEPOL to assess the performance of the agency to ensure the required qualitative and quantitative targets are met and maintained. On the basis of this performance monitoring, the results of the expert evaluations of CEPOL, its products and services and taking into consideration the noted deficits in staffing levels, no potential for more efficiency gains have been identified.

The agency's performance indicators demonstrate that CEPOL not only exceeded its activity implementation target, but also constantly achieves outstanding levels of satisfaction with CEPOL activities (satisfaction rate in 2014 - 92%). The quality of CEPOL's output is dependent on the agency's ability to work effectively, and the achievements of 2013 are built upon the agency's ongoing drive to operate responsibly and efficiently. Further evidence of the agency's enhanced efficiency is the further reduction in the unit price of its training. In 2013, CEPOL delivered training to 37% more participants than in 2012, while in 2014, participants increased by 25% compared to 2013, with an operating budget which remained almost unchanged.

D) Negative priorities/decrease of existing tasks:

CEPOL already operates de-prioritisation; as a matter of fact, out of an initial group of approximately 100 residential activities per year, the agency could only finance 81 in 2016.

Additionally, while it is not possible to estimate to a precise degree whether and what CEPOL may have to further de-prioritise once the new legal framework enters into application, it is reasonable to estimate that the combined effect of the new tasks and the extended ones, coupled with the enlargement of its target group, may result in CEPOL having to revise the number/types of activities, or the mechanism of financing for its residential activities.

Realistically, it must be noted that in order to serve the enhanced target group with the current budget allocated to residential courses, CEPOL may need to apply very strict prioritisation of residential activities. This is due to the need to extend participation to selected activities up to 2 per Member State where agencies other than police services have a stake, such as Customs and Prosecutors, or border guards. Such an extension in the number of participants will result in a single activity requiring double the current budget. For example: currently an average 3-day activity for 28 participants costs approximately €33,000; having 56 participants would double the cost. Therefore, although the training needs at EU level are ever increasing, a much stricter prioritisation will need to be applied, unless CEPOL's budget is significantly increased to better match demand and supply.

Another area in which additional resources would be needed to match the demand of the Member States is the European Police Exchange Programme (EPEP) - a flagship product of CEPOL always very sought after. More than 500 applications are estimated for 2016; however the budget may only allow for approximately 380 exchanges.

Training activities linked with or in support of the EU policy cycle on serious international and organised crime driven by the EMPACT teams and delivered by CEPOL are also in growing demand. Online support for those in the form of online modules is limited, with the current budget, to the development of no more than two modules per year.

Additionally, extending the participation of third countries' officials to CEPOL training activities (as per the remarks received from the European Commission on the preliminary draft version of this programming document) is greatly limited by the lack of financial resources.

E) Redeployment:

It is envisaged that the use of Contract Agents will be enhanced vis-à-vis other types of profiles such as Seconded National Experts. This will allow for a more efficient and sustainable use of human resources, in compliance with the principle of business continuity whilst still respecting the HR ceilings set by the Institutions.

CEPOL's policy of ensuring that the appropriate management capacity and competencies are in place to support the development of CEPOL will be continued. However, as has been noted previously, CEPOL is considered to be operating at a deficit of required posts. Further, when taking into consideration the imminent changes to the CEPOL legal basis and possible extension of its mandate, additional posts are required in 2016, 2017 and 2018.

CEPOL considers that it is of utmost importance that the Agency continues to strive to meet the increasing demand placed upon it to support EU policies.

The identified resource deficits and increasing demand for the products and services of CEPOL allow only for the limited redeployment of resources, e.g. to administrate travel arrangements for all participants. This has been done to a large extent by using interim staff.

CEPOL is seeking to partly offset this deficit by the proposal to reduce the number of SNEs and 'structural' interim staff and to increase the number of contract agents as outlined in paragraph on staff evolution. Over time, Seconded National Experts (SNEs) have provided a very valuable contribution to the operations of CEPOL. However, several reasons suggest a re-balancing in the use of these profiles.

SNEs are a precious yet precarious resource, as they can be recalled by the sending authorities at very short notice; this can be at times detrimental for business continuity.

In most cases, SNEs at CEPOL would have a law enforcement profile. Whilst the use of these experts is recommended for tasks requiring law enforcement expertise, SNEs cannot cover the whole spectrum of CEPOL's evolving staffing needs especially in the area of administrative or policy tasks, which often include a role in the financial circuit of CEPOL which is precluded by the financial regulation to SNEs or which do not immediately fall within a law enforcement officer's skills set.

Lastly, in many cases it is even difficult to solicit applications from Member States, as MS remain responsible for the payment of a salary and for all social contributions to their seconded staff.

At the moment it is recommended to maintain 50% of the possible SNE posts (3 positions) in the coming years, on the understanding that the support of experts coming from the CEPOL network will always be necessary in the future for the core tasks of the agency.

Conclusion on evolution of resources compared to the Commission Communication 2014-2020

As is clear from the preceding chapters, the Commission Communication 2014-2020 could not take into consideration the widening of the mandate for CEPOL with regards to the target audience and additional tasks as provided in the current draft new CEPOL regulation. However, the Commission proposal for the new CEPOL regulation included 3 new positions - 1 to be included in 2016, 2 more in 2017. These two positions have been included in the multi-annual resource planning.

It must once again be emphasised that while on one hand CEPOL currently operates at a deficit of human resources, it is not possible at this point in time to estimate the impact of new and expanded tasks on the agency's already strained Human Resources component. However, the estimated needs contained in the independent study[1] financed by the European Commission in 2012, stating that 12 new posts (at AD level) would be necessary for the agency to address the challenges of a renewed/extended mandate, can still be considered as a realistic baseline. It may be necessary, should the staffing figures remain unchanged, to set further negative priorities and in parallel, convey clear messages to CEPOL's key stakeholders in this regard.

Section III – Work Programme 2016

1. Introduction

Significant developments in the area of Justice and Home Affairs (JHA) are expected to have an impact on CEPOL in 2016. Whilst CEPOL has undertaken a thorough preparation process to re-calibrate its delivery to the renewed expectations stemming from the adoption of a new legal basis, the Work Programme 2016 needs to retain a degree of flexibility and adaptability.

On 16 July 2014 the European Commission published its proposal²⁵ for a Regulation of the European Parliament and of the Council establishing a European Union agency for law enforcement training (CEPOL), repealing and replacing Council Decision 2005/681/JHA. Although the Regulation (at the time of drafting this document) is foreseen to be approved by the end of November 2015, its date of application is provisionally set for the 1 July 2016. CEPOL is closely following the final phases of the legislative process as it prepares itself for the challenges its new mandate entails.

During the five years of the CEPOL strategy plan (2010-2014) implementation, CEPOL has become a mature organisation applying modern planning and monitoring tools, ensuring effective delivery of high quality training products.

However, new challenges lie ahead with the anticipated approval of the new legal basis.

The extension of CEPOL's target group to law enforcement officials, the changes in the agency's governance and its new coordination role, the renewed attention to the internal/external security nexus, the focus on quality and the adoption of a more structured analytical method for the identification of training needs (via, inter alia, the production of Strategic Training Needs Analysis or STNA), as well as the corresponding delivery of training activities imply a change of paradigm for European law enforcement training.

Towards this end, CEPOL has elaborated a detailed Impact Assessment encompassing the not only the implications of the new legal basis but also taking into account key strategic EU documents such as the European Law Enforcement Training Scheme²⁶ (LETS), the European Agenda on Security²⁷, as well as several other strategies and sub-strategies to properly frame European law enforcement training into the right policy context.

A detailed Change Management plan has also been elaborated, detailing the measures to be undertaken by the Agency as a whole in the areas of Governance and Stakeholders Relations, Human Resources and Administration, and Core Business. The plan runs through the end of the year 2017.

²⁷ Communication from the Commission to the European parliament, The Council, the European Economic and Social Committee and the Committee of the Regions 'The European Agenda on Security', COM(2015) 185 final, Strasbourg 28.04.2015

The Communication of the EU Commission on the resources of the decentralised agencies 2014-2020²⁸ is a call for synergies and rationalisation. CEPOL amongst the other EU agencies will have to compete for resources; the agency has already relinquished one establishment plan post due to the 5% cut imposed to all agencies. It is reasonable to anticipate that in the absence of new resources, in particular human and financial ones, the implementation of the tasks stemming from the new mandate of the agency will present significant challenges requiring enhanced efforts.

Equally, and in order to specifically satisfy the legitimate expectations of its extended network, in 2016 CEPOL will have to operate a strategic and tactical reflection on how to finance the participation of new actors into its training activities and actually prepare concrete measures for that purpose.

Activities listed in the Annual Work Programme 2016 take into account the CEPOL short-term strategy (2014-2017).

In the area of Serious and Organised Crime, the first fully-fledged EU Policy Cycle 2014-2017 will be in the third year of full cycle operation, hence calling CEPOL to deliver on its objectives, taking into account the excellent results achieved by the agency so far.

2. Main planning principles

Circular planning principles will continue to be applied to ensure the following:

- Evaluation results of the activities implemented in 2015 will be assessed to determine effectiveness of products delivered and any need of their adjustment;
- Depending on the state of play in reference to the development of a STNA methodology, CEPOL may begin to apply this instrument starting from 2016;
- Training Needs Analysis will be used as a key instrument in determining where and which training and learning activities are required;
- Clear links to the short-term Strategy of CEPOL will be established;
- CEPOL's management tools such as Risk Register and Management Plan will be coherently further developed as tools to accompany and monitor the implementation of the agency's Work Programme.

The Work Programme will continue contributing to the EU policies mentioned in the introduction. Furthermore, in the area of Serious and Organised Crime, the first fully-fledged EU Policy Cycle 2014-2017 will be in the third year of full cycle operation. CEPOL will continue to deliver on its objectives, taking into account the excellent results achieved by the agency so far.

Stakeholders' input and involvement at all stages of the planning will be ensured by the continued use of the results of specific surveys and regular consultations. The input of the CEPOL network of training institutes will still be the guiding reference.

CEPOL will plan its operational business, and will continue offering training products on the basis of its tried-and-tested multi-layered portfolio approach to thematic requirements.

3.1 Portfolio based programming of CEPOL learning activities

Strategic Training Needs Assessment (STNA)

In 2016 a methodology for STNA will be developed in close cooperation with the European Commission- which will contract an external service provider for that purpose under its own funds. It is expected that relevant actors, such as the Member States represented within CEPOL's network, the European Commission itself, the Council of the European Union, the JHA agencies, as well as other international partners may contribute to the development of the methodology. Whilst it is reasonable to anticipate that the STNA methodology may not be delivered in its final, operable form prior to the 2nd half of 2016, CEPOL has nevertheless made budgetary provisions to address, at a minimum, the preparatory steps for the implementation of the first multiannual STNA.

Operational Training Needs Analysis (TNA)

Whilst developing the STNA, The TNA tool will continue to be applied for assessing needs, i.e. whether the EU level training is needed, and for the identification of the most suitable training and learning solutions to address identified themes and target groups. As in the case of STNA above, the use of externally contracted consultancy services for the further development of annual TNA methodology will be considered in light of the new CEPOL mandate.

Multi-layered portfolio approach to thematic education and training.

Based on the outcomes of the TNA, CEPOL will decide on its response to the EU level training needs. A strict thematic based approach in line with the LETS principles will be applied where the following factors will be crucial in selection of intervention solutions:

- Competencies which need to be developed/strengthened;
- Training need (how many need to receive training and to which extent: awareness, in-depth and specialist/expert needs);
- Recommended choice of complimentary training and learning options;
- Available resources.

CEPOL will continue to select its learning and training themes from relevant EU policy instruments such as the ones cited in the previous sections of this document. It is expected that a portfolio approach will be fully implemented for the EU Policy Cycle priorities. CEPOL will consider using the Grants instrument not only for implementing individual courses, but for developing full thematic portfolios comprising online learning as well as residential courses from 2016 onwards. In this manner, full complementarity would be achieved and identified needs would be met to a much greater extent.

3.2 Development of education and training products

Education and training activities

Residential (classroom) learning is one of the most effective tool for building homogenous skill and knowledge base in the international environment. It also facilitates effective network-building across the EU law enforcement arena. Therefore, residential activities such as courses, seminars and workshops will remain one of the key products of CEPOL, to be delivered primarily through the network of training institutes. Topics have been determined by the process described in the previous section; they derive from TNA, and are guided by the LETS principles. Training activities will form part of a portfolio-based approach to selected themes and will interface with other learning solutions, such as online modules. Online learning tools such as webinars may also be utilised for the preparation or follow up of residential activities.

Section IV.I lists the residential activities for 2016; these will be implemented in the following priority areas:

1. EU Policy Cycle 2014 – 2017 priorities;
2. Other organised international crime including financial crime;
3. Counter-Terrorism;
4. Special Law Enforcement Techniques;
5. EU Police and Judicial cooperation and networks;
6. External dimension of the area of Freedom, Security and Justice
7. Maintenance of law and order and public security;
8. Leadership, learning, training, language development;
9. Research and science, prevention;
10. Fundamental rights

CEPOL may implement additional activities using underspending, particularly to cater for emerging training needs deriving from the European Agenda on Security, i.e. cybercrime, organised crime and counter-terrorism.

In 2016 CEPOL intends to implement the following flagship activities:

1) EU Leadership Programme

CEPOL will continue implementing the EU Leadership Programme that began in 2015. The programme consists of five segments:

- The European Joint Master Programme (EJMP), a two year accredited programme launched in October 2015, will continue to be implemented to provide science based competences in a European community of practice.
- Two Future leaders modules aiming to strengthen skills, knowledge and competencies of future EU police leaders;

- One Heads of Training Institutions workshop, with the participation of delegates from Police Chiefs, to discuss the training needs for future activities and national leadership development programmes
- One EU CSDP Police Command and Planning Course, to prepare senior police personnel for leading positions in EU CSDP missions.

2) CEPOL 15th Anniversary Research and Science Conference

This year's conference shall be dedicated to law enforcement global education trends and shall bring together researches and practitioners from the EU and beyond to explore the challenges of law enforcement training and education.

Residential activities are primarily implemented through CEPOL network training institutes via Grants. One Call for Applications is planned in 2016, with the following timeline:

| Step | Date | Amount, € |
|----------------------------------|-----------------------|---------------|
| Call for proposals | 15 July 2015 | EUR 1,815,000 |
| Submission of Grant applications | 23 October 2015 | |
| Evaluation | November 2015 | |
| Awarding decision | December 2015 | |
| Conclusions of grant agreements | January-February 2016 | |

As CEPOL's target group will be extended as a result of the new mandate, the agency will extend the scope of Framework Partnership Agreements to encompass the following entities:

- EU law enforcement agencies and training institutions
- Research institutes and public universities that have working agreements with EU law enforcement institutions.

Therefore, a call for new Framework Partners (FP) 2017-2020 will be launched in 2016 with the following timeline:

22 January 2016 - launch of the call for FP

- NCPs identify and disseminate the call to all potential partners (law enforcement institutions and research institutes, universities);

31 March 2016 – submission of applications

15 April 2016 – assessment of applications and awarding

30 June 2016 – signature of Framework Agreements

The selection, evaluation and award criteria for both grants and Framework Partners Calls are listed in section IV.III

The new Participants Management application will be piloted in 2016.

With the entry into force of new CEPOL mandate, which will not only enhance existing tasks but also bring new ones, the agency will assess the existing residential activities implementation model and may table alternative solutions to alleviate the administrative burden, especially for Framework Partners, thus bringing savings to human resources both at the agency and national level.

European Police Exchange Programme

The European Police Exchange Programme (EPEP) is a permanent feature of CEPOL's training portfolio. The programme has been evaluated in 2015 in the context of the agency's second 5 years Evaluation, which findings are not ready at the time of drafting this document. CEPOL will seek to implement eventual recommendations stemming from the evaluation of EPEP in 2016. EPEP will continue to complement other training and learning activities offered by CEPOL, particularly the Leadership Programme and EU Policy Cycle priorities. Stronger links with operational learning needs will be ensured.

A multi-layered, interlocking approach should be adopted, giving the possibility of 'clustering' exchanges according to regional and/or thematic perspectives, but at the same time maintaining the utmost level of flexibility to meet the needs of the law enforcement community.

EPEP will continue to be extended to the EU Neighbourhood Policy and Eastern Partnership countries.

(Common) Curricula/Training manuals

By 2016 Common Curricula (CC) will on one hand be made available to wider audiences including CSDP Missions, International Organisations and Third Countries, and on the other hand will have determined their continued relevance in the harmonisation of practices across the EU and the move to a new business model in the area of harmonised training programs. CEPOL will continue to support the MS in the integration process of these training materials.

CEPOL will assess the need to develop new training material on hate crime in cooperation with the Fundamental Rights Agency.

Use of e-learning systems

Effective use of e-learning tools in learning process enables larger audience to be reached. Existing tools will be used to a greater extent in implementing the activities. CEPOL's Learning Management System (LMS) will become an integral part of courses and seminars as a learning and knowledge platform. Further e-learning opportunities will be sought in light of the extended mandate and the developments in IT.

Webinars will continue to evolve in a planned manner, as well as cater to ad-hoc training needs. However, planned large-audience targeted online seminars will be further incorporated into the Work Programme to allow adequate preparation both on the side of organisers and participants; the list of webinars for 2016 is given in section IV.II. In 2016 webinars will continue to be delivered across the CEPOL network and not only centrally, in application of the principle of direct involvement of the network in development and delivery of modern learning products. Given the demand for webinars has been constantly increasing, the agency will firstly investigate the possibility to streamline their implementation, e.g. by a) extending further involvement of CEPOL partners and b) seeking outsourcing part of administration to alleviate technical workload both for the agency and its implementing partners. Secondly, CEPOL will seek to implement training activities using video solutions.

The first pilot online course on Police English language was implemented in the end of 2015. A full assessment of the process will be conducted and the applied methodology adjusted. On the basis of the piloted and adjusted methodology, guidelines for CEPOL Online courses will be developed in 2016. A new online course will be implemented applying the adjusted methodology. New module on English for Cybercrime experts will be incorporated in the online course curriculum.

In 2015, the assessment of CEPOL needs for a new online educational platform (e-NET) was completed, and a feasibility study produced via a consultancy contract. The process included CEPOL staff and the CEPOL network. In 2016 the following steps will be undertaken:

- Consultations on solutions proposed in the feasibility study with CEPOL NCPs and e-NET managers;
- Selection of the solution for future CEPOL e-NET on the basis of feasibility study;
- Development of technical specification for procuring the new e-NET;
- Launch and completion of the procurement
- Beginning of implementation of production.

Residential activities will continue to be supplemented by online modules:

- The existing 24 online modules continue to be offered to learners;
- The Europol module will be updated and a sub-module on writing SIENA reports will be incorporated
- A new module on EU Policy Cycle priority - synthetic drugs - will be developed in cooperation with EMPACT Team experts and EMCDDA.

Quality assurance of learning – education and training

The continuous improvement of CEPOL activities to achieve training of excellence calls for the application of a revised homogenous and comprehensive evaluation methodology, to be applied to all training and learning options (residential, online, EPEP).

In 2015 an expert group assessed CEPOL's evaluation methodology, and proposed a revised approach that includes the following features:

- Kirkpatrick's methodology continues to apply;
- Evaluation forms are streamlined and modified to suit various activities (a course, workshop, conference, seminar, online module, webinar etc.) assessing quality of content, participants, experts, learning environment, applied methodology etc.
- Gradual introduction of summative tests.

The proposed methodology envisages significant changes to the existing evaluation system, and requires considerable adaptation. Therefore, in 2016 consultations will be held with CEPOL stakeholders to finalise the methodology and prepare its adoption by the Governing Board.

CEPOL will be developed into a European law enforcement knowledge base

To enhance the capacity in the area of knowledge management CEPOL will continue to monitor relevant sources of knowledge and scientific findings that are potentially relevant to the planning, implementation and further strategic development of CEPOL's core business; transfer of knowledge from the EU and outside it to law enforcement agencies will be a priority. CEPOL will continue to provide the access to scientific journals.

Knowledge management will be one of the priorities of CEPOL operations. The agency shall work towards becoming a law enforcement knowledge and best practice repository, particularly considering the agency's role under the new mandate. Closer links between research findings and training and learning activities will be sought and applied, making research and findings of the law enforcement science an integral part of CEPOL's select thematic priorities, especially those dealing with emerging trends and applicable investigation and prevention techniques.

Lecturers Trainers and Researchers database will be made available online to ease its use.

3.3 External relations

| Strategy Goal 2: "Strengthening the CEPOL network and enhancing the external relations" | | |
|---|---|---|
| Specific activities for Goal 2 | | Performance indicator |
| 2.1 | Enhance Network Experts' involvement in activities related to Third Countries | Involvement of CEPOL network engaged per each Fact Finding Mission Target: 80% |
| 2.2 | Extend cooperation to European Neighbourhood Partnership countries, in particular Southern countries, as well as Strategic Partners of the EU | MENA training activities delivered to partner countries in the region Target: 80% Working Arrangement stipulated with a Strategic Partner Target: 1 Working Arrangement stipulated with a Southern ENP Partner Target: 1 |
| 2.3 | Maintain close dialogue and cooperation with, as well as responsiveness to, the needs and inputs formulated by EU institutions and other JHA agencies | CEPOL-led JHA Scorecard activities implemented Target: 80% |

External relations will be considered and dealt with as the corner stone of partnerships

CEPOL has already extended, through the years, its learning and training offer to participants from Third Countries, in particular those countries with an EU accession perspective (Candidate and potential Candidate Countries) as well as European Neighbourhood Policy partners and specifically those belonging to the Eastern Partnership; in 2016 will operationalise further its external relations efforts towards the MENA and MEDA regions, via specific projects such as the EU/MENA Counter Terrorism Training project and the EUROMED project. Efforts will be intensified with regard to Strategic Partners of the European Union, such as the United States of America. The possibility to include Third Countries more routinely into CEPOL key activities (included but not limited to activities such as the EU Policy Cycle) will be carefully looked at. However, due consideration must be given to the availability of resources and the relevance of Third Country participation to selected activities.

External Relations are fundamental in supporting CEPOL's role as a key JHA agency, and to promote a European approach to law enforcement training. This strand of work of the agency will continue to thrive in 2016, making sure that the Agency remains engaged at all relevant level of EU policy making in the JHA area and continues to contribute to better coordination and cooperation among other EU and international actors in the delivery of training. The External Relations function shall also contribute to communicating the Agency's key products and achievements among partners and stakeholders, and shall play a supporting role in fostering further effective coordination and synergy with other EU JHA agencies especially in view of CEPOL's coordinating training role.

CEPOL has launched or concluded negotiations for the stipulation of Working Arrangements with all countries which will have achieved Candidate Country status by 2015, and has expanded its reach to more Eastern Partnership countries within the ENP. In 2016, the agency will seek to conclude formal cooperation with at least one ENP southern country. Cooperation with Strategic Partners of the EU shall be further pursued, in line with the available resources and overall EU priorities.

CEPOL shall explore ways to further assist Third Countries, primarily the Candidate and ENP Eastern partners, to reach their European Partnership objectives by further involving them into CEPOL activities and by devising specific initiatives for their benefit. Engagement of CEPOL Network experts will be pursued in line with the resources available, to promote European best practices in cooperation with Third Countries.

Engagement with Third Countries other than Candidates and ENP partners shall be primarily pursued through ad-hoc projects funded outside of the main Community subsidy and shall nevertheless be undertaken only after a careful assessment of available resources.

The EU/MENA Counter-Terrorism Training Partnership project

This project is the result of an effort by the European Commission to work more closely with the MENA region on this crucial issue by using the EU Agencies' instrument. The overall objective of this programme is to sustain institutional capacity in Turkey, Lebanon, Jordan and Tunisia to prevent, investigate and prosecute terrorism offences. The activities will be based on CEPOL's tried-and-tested learning methodologies and training products such as specialist residential training courses and staff exchange programmes, adjusted to the particular realities of the target countries. The project is worth 2.5 M EUR over a span of 18 months, and is funded under the Instrument Contributing to Stability and Peace (IcSP) managed by the Service for Foreign Policy Instruments.

The EUROMED Police IV

In July 2015 the European Commission published an invitation to participate in a tender for participation in the EUROMED Police IV project aiming to provide tailored capacity building in priority areas based on the identification of needs and promote the sharing of existing good practices and expertise. The specifications envisage involvement of CEPOL by providing a dedicated space on e-Net for creation of a Euromed Knowledge Base and the implementation of exchanges and study visits.

In 2016 CEPOL will be involved in setting up and making available the dedicated e-NET space and implementation of a study visit. Exchanges will be organised in the following year.

Agency Governance

Particular attention will be paid in 2016 to ensure the crucial phase of the transformation of the agency is dealt with in an effective and efficient manner, whilst not neglecting the need to ensure business continuity. The members of the Governing Board/Management Board will convene for two regular meetings in 2016, and on an ad-hoc basis when deemed necessary, either in presence or online. Transparency shall continue to be pursued as a matter of priority, paying particular attention to the timeliness and quality of submitted documents. Written procedures shall continue to be adopted to enable qualitative debates on priority topics during Board meetings. The Chairperson of the Governing/Management Board will continue to enjoy the full and committed support of the Director and the Agency as a whole in fulfilling her/his duties.

Change management

As described in the previous sections, 2016 will be the year of CEPOL's transformation in line with the requirements of the new legal basis. Towards this end, CEPOL will pay attention to business continuity whilst implementing the Change Management measures which are foreseen to take effect in 2016. Among those, the governance arrangements necessary for CEPOL to function effectively will be given priority. As a matter of fact all except one measure (the decision on establishing a Scientific Committee) contained in the "Governance and Stakeholders" section of the Change Management Plan will have to be implemented by the end of the year.

Quality Management

Performance Management

Goals and objectives reflected in the CEPOL's short-term strategy 2014-2017 are subject to regular monitoring, analysis and reporting, both internally (management) and externally (Governing Board). Targets and indicators provide visibility and clarify accountability related to the Agency's performance expectations. Every effort is taken to ensure performance management processes are functioning properly, so as to tighten the link between strategic objectives and day-to-day actions.

The management continues to highlight the importance of communicating strategic objectives to the staff, which allows to use established goals as a basis for departmental and individual performance planning.

Effective goal setting (including timelines), combined with a method to track progress and identify opportunities for improvement, contributes to the overall success and achievement of expected results. All indicators analysed to date demonstrate that interim targets have been met or exceeded, and show progress in implementing the short-term strategy being on track. The work continues in 2016 with the same set of indicators as used in 2015, in order to sustain the measurement base and allow comparisons.

Certification of the CEPOL Management System

The Agency has committed to certify its Management System by the end of 2016, by taking into account principles in newly released international standard ISO 9001:2015. This strategic initiative helps CEPOL to demonstrate its high commitment to quality and stakeholder satisfaction.

An in-depth focus will be given to management consistency and improvement of internal processes, which will further advance compliance with principles of legality and regularity.

It is a multi-annual project; the work has successfully started in 2015 and will progress as planned in 2016. External certification audit is foreseen to be performed in the fourth quarter of 2016.

Data Protection

Everyone has the right to the protection of personal data concerning her or him, it is the fundamental right. CEPOL is committed to process personal data fairly for specified purposes, and primarily on the basis of the consent of the person concerned.

In 2015, significant efforts have been made in improving business-as-usual and sensitive processing operations, such as operating the video-surveillance system, staff recruitment, staff evaluation, anti-harassment procedures.

The Agency is determined to finalise preparatory work in the domain of prior-checkable personal data processing operations in 2016, by intensifying internal collaboration among Data Controllers and Data Processors.

Effective Internal Control System

The financial workflow implemented by CEPOL is a partially decentralised model and follows the four eyes principle. CEPOL performs the ex-ante operational and financial verifications on each financial transaction.

In order to ensure functional discipline, creation and maintenance of an effective internal control system, CEPOL management adopts on an annual basis an Internal Control Plan based on which the ex post verifications are conducted within the agency as well as at the level of the grant beneficiaries.

On an annual basis, and in particular during the preparation of the Consolidated Annual Activity Report, the management assess compliance with the requirements of the Internal Control Standards. There is regular follow-up of the action plan in order to ensure the established measures for developing, maintaining and strengthening the internal control are implemented.

The Internal Audit Service provides independent, objective assurance and consulting services designed to add value and improve the operations of CEPOL. As stated in the Financial Regulation of CEPOL, the internal auditor of CEPOL is mandated to assess the suitability and effectiveness of the management and control systems in accordance with the applicable regulations.

The European Court of Auditors, or an external auditor, audits the annual accounts of the CEPOL every year.

Additionally, by Decision 24/2010/GB, an Internal Audit Panel has been established in order to deal with matters related to audit process, the system of internal control and the financial reporting process, being a GB advisory organ for decisions regarding the financial management of CEPOL.

The audit findings of the internal and external auditors are subject to specific action plans that are regularly monitored with regards to their implementation in view of continuously improving the operations of CEPOL. This approach will continue to be implemented in 2016.

Managing human resources as the greatest assets of CEPOL

A new legal basis and the new Financial Perspective (2014-2020) will have an influence on the Establishment Plan of CEPOL, and its human resource planning. Based on the current information, CEPOL will have one additional position in the Establishment Plan. This position – legal officer – has been a long requested position.

In order to be able to provide better service to CEPOL stakeholders, the Agency has launched the initiative to transform 3 SNE's positions (together with 2 positions that have been filled by interim staff for two years or longer) into 6 contract agent positions. The total costs of this transformation is approximately budgetary neutral although this will be depending also on the personal situation of successful candidates in the recruitment procedures to be launched.

CEPOL is closely following any development with regards to the Implementing Rules on the Staff Regulations in order to be able to prepare GB decision on the application or the request for deviation or opt out in a timely manner.

CEPOL has made great strides in the last years with regards to training of its staff. From a budget of less than € 5 000 in 2012, the Agency currently foresees to use € 40 000 for this purpose. Besides horizontal training to improve the organisation and the working environment (via training on ethics, prevention of harassment, training and appointment of confidential councillors) the training plan is also aimed at improving general competences (e.g. Microsoft products training as well as project management training) and individual competences based on the results of the annual appraisal procedure from the previous year, including language training.

Budget management ensures implementation of Annual Work Programme and contributes CEPOL's future innovation

2016 will be the third year of the MFF 2014-2020. The MFF 2014-2020 has been established in times of austerity. The expected new legal basis will add new tasks related to the implementation of LETS and the widening of the target audience for CEPOL activities.

During 2016 it is foreseen that the Enterprise Content Management (ECM) will be rolled out. As a tool, ECM will provide the formalised means of organising and storing document at CEPOL.

Additionally, the implementation of an archiving policy will enable CEPOL to comply with current EU policies for an electronic archive.

As the current budget planning does not foresee an increase in the budget it will be even more important for CEPOL to establish a close monitoring of all its activities and the timely intervention on those activities that – for whatever reason – are likely to be deviate significantly from their budgets. Due to the constraints of the financial regulation it is not realistic to expect that it will ever be possible to use the budget to its full amount – a certain margin for unforeseen development (e.g. exchange rate differences) will always be necessary but the efforts made in the last years to decrease the over-budgeting of CEPOL activities from 30% to less than 10% will be further continued.

Stakeholder relations and communication

Communications will be used to promote the new CEPOL and build its reputation as a platform of excellence for learning.

In 2016, CEPOL will be implementing the changes in its corporate and visual identity agreed by the Governing Board as a result of the “re-branding” project implemented by the agency in 2015.

CEPOL will build upon its established communications products (e.g. Annual Report; fact sheets; etc.) to provide information to key decision makers. In addition, CEPOL will continue to provide its network partners with promotional materials targeted to current and potential course participants.

The web will continue to be the main communications channel and CEPOL will therefore focus on developing communications materials that are web-friendly (for use of public website and e-Net), such as e-books and materials that can be disseminated through handheld devices. Social media will continue to play a role and shall be used to a greater extent to advertise and promote the work of the agency and its Network.

Reaching a wider audience and engaging with the new target audience is part of CEPOL’s Communications priorities for 2016. The outsourcing of non-core services will be pursued as a matter of priority, to ensure CEPOL’s dedicated resources can focus on articulating and communicating the agency’s key messages.

The fifteenth anniversary of the agency will open the door for the modernisation of its communications products. Even though key publications will still be produced (i.e. Annual report, Training catalogue, etc.), the concept underlying them shall be revamped to enhance user experience. Besides, CEPOL shall organise an Open Day event aimed at increasing public awareness of its activities.

Section IV.I – List of residential activities 2016

Following the Governing Board meeting in November 2015, four activities were withdrawn from the list. This is due to the fact that 11 activities were not applied for by CEPOL Framework Partners, and CEPOL staff could not ensure implementation of all of those. Priority was given to the Policy Cycle and counter-terrorism activities in line with the priorities of the European Agenda of Security:

Descriptive information and justification on:

Budget outturn

The balance of the budget outturn for the year 2014 (230,114 €) is the open pre-financing from the 2014 budget that has to be returned to the EC. In comparison to the last three years the significant reduction in the amount to be reimbursed reflects increasingly higher consumption of the budget over this period.

Cancellation of commitment appropriations, cancelation of payment appropriations for the year and payment appropriations carried over

During 2014 the total commitment appropriation of the fresh C1 budget has reached 97.40% consumption. Only 2.40% for a total amount of 227,927 € of the total fresh budget has not been used and therefore cancelled at end of year 2014. In addition CEPOL has registered a cancellation of C8 commitment appropriation 124,829 euro carried over from 2013 to 2014.

As the agency does not have dissociated credit the situation of commitment appropriation and payment appropriation for the year and for the carried over appropriation remain identical

ANNEX: IV – Human Resources qualitative

Annex IV, Section A: Recruitment Policy

1. Recruitment policy

The CEPOL recruitment policy has been reviewed in the end of 2013 and the beginning of 2014; a new Director's decision on the CEPOL recruitment policy is in force since 1 March 2014. This new recruitment policy includes process descriptions and templates (such as vacancy notice, decision for appointing the Selection Committee, appointing authority decision, conditional offer/confirmation offer/reserve list/regret letters etc.). In addition, a checklist containing all key controls to be completed throughout the recruitment procedure to assist HR during the process and also to review that the documents resulted following each step of the recruitment procedure will be developed. To assist the selection committee members and reach consistency in the recruitment process, guidelines have been developed. The recruitment policy will be reviewed in the first quarter of 2015 to see where it can be further improved.

In October 2015 the Governing Board has agreed to the application of the model decision on engagement of Temporary Agents 2(f) by written procedure. It will be then necessary to review the recruitment policy in order to ensure alignment with this decision.

1.2.2. Selection procedure

All Temporary Agents are recruited via formal selection procedures according to the CEPOL Recruitment Guide. The CEPOL recruitment guide will be amended to ensure alignment with the external selection procedure as outlined in the model decision on engagement of Temporary Agents 2(f). Main change will be that there will be the possibility for internal selection, inter-agency selection and external selection.

CEPOL's current external selection procedure which is applicable to both temporary agents and contract agents is based on the following principles:

Development of a business case to decide on the need to fill a position or to re-allocate a position that will come available.

Development of the vacancy notice and (amended) job description.

Publication of a vacancy notice on CEPOL's website and on the EPSO website, indicating eligibility and selection criteria, indicating type and duration of contract as well as the recruitment grade.

Appointing a selection panel; a representative from HR will in all panels be present as secretary and to ensure compliance with the recruitment policy. When justified by the level (panel members need to be employed at the same or a higher grade) or the required expertise of a post, one or more external members to the recruitment panel can be appointed. For each recruitment procedure, the Staff Committee is invited to nominate one staff member to represent the Staff Committee; this is not necessarily a member of the Staff Committee itself.

Pre-selection of candidates by the selection panel on the basis of required documents, permitting the evaluation of defined application eligibility and selection criteria.

Interview of candidates by the selection panel on the basis of pre-determined competency based questions covering the specific competencies in the area of expertise, knowledge of European Institutions, general aptitudes and language abilities as outlined in the published vacancy notice. A written assessment test is set for each.

The selection panel proposes a list of suitable candidates in a report sent to the Director acting as Appointing Authority or Authority authorised to conclude contracts respectively.

The Director acting as Appointing Authority makes the final selection from a list of suitable candidates.

1.2.3. Entry grades

As stated elsewhere in this document CEPOL has not yet developed and/or implement a promotion policy. From 2016 this will change; however, as a consequence it means that all staff in the current grades are in the entry grade for each position.

When CEPOL was established the (entry) grades for its staff were set low in comparison to similar posts in other agencies. For this reason, CEPOL will keep the current grades as entry grades. This will then lead in the future to the bandwidth for different positions, over time CEPOL would have a positions in the following bandwidths.

| AST Assistants | | AD Experts, Managers and Directors | | | |

Managers provide operational or administrative management in support of the implementation of the CEPOL mandate. They are responsible and accountable for the delivery of expected outputs in respect of the CEPOL Strategy and associated planning and the Annual Work Programme whilst ensuring sound financial management and supervision of their respective departments/units as applicable. To date the post of Director is graded at AD13, Heads of Department posts at AD10 and Heads of Unit at AD9.

Programme Officers are staff requiring specific expertise and/or having a particular function contributing to the delivery of tasks, projects or coordinate complex sets of activities and financial and human resources under the authority of a Senior or Middle Manager. Typically and in comparison with other EU agencies and the European Commission these posts would be filled by Temporary Agents at grade AD7. However, at CEPOL due to historical reasons officers having high level specialisation in various fields are graded at AD5.

Assistants provide support in the implementation of the Annual Work Programme, drafting of documents and assistance in the implementation of policies and procedures in following the instructions of line management. An Assistant may also provide specialised assistance in financial or human resource management activities. Assistants play a supporting or service role in operational, administrative tasks under the supervision of a Senior Assistant and or a higher level function.

1.2.4. Length of contracts

As a general rule CEPOL issues initial contracts to Temporary Agents for a 5 year period. These initial contracts can be renewed once for a fixed term up to 5 years; any subsequent renewal will be for an indefinite period.

1.3. Contract agents

Whilst there is no specific model decision or implementing rule on engagement of Contract Agents CEPOL plans to apply the external recruitment policy as outlined in the model decision on engagement of Temporary Agents 2(f) by analogy for Contract Agents.

1.3.1. Key functions

As CEPOL is a small size organisation, all positions have to be considered as key functions.

The following table describes the allocation and designation of Contract Agents within CEPOL, including the function group for each position. In anticipation of the Implementing Rules on Promotion (for Temporary Agents) and Reclassification (for Contract Agents) it is necessary to foresee this in the establishment plan. As a general principle, CEPOL will offer each staff member the chance for promotion approximately every third year. As CEPOL has in its history never used this promotion tool before, in the first two years of this policy (2016 and 2017) a slightly higher percentage of staff members will be given the opportunity for promotion/reclassification. At present a model decision on promotion is expected to be communicated in the last two months of 2015 or early 2016. CEPOL is planning to request the GB to apply this decision with early effect and not to wait until the regulatory nine months have passed.

CEPOL's GB has approved in October 2015 the decision based on the model decision agreed in the Standing Working Party on appraisal and for Temporary Agents and Contract Agents under articles 43 and 44 of the Staff Regulations. This procedure will be used from the annual appraisal over the period 2015.

Each member of CEPOL staff has an agreed individual activity plan including training possibilities which is drawn up at the beginning of the year laying down the objectives and the indicators of the staff member in relation to the Work Programme. An individual's appraisal is then scheduled according to their start date and end of probation for bi-annual review on the basis of the performance indicators of the activity plan.

Where indefinite contracts for CEPOL staff are concluded, the model decision for agencies on promotion shall apply; any promotion/reclassification shall be subject to the prior agreement of the Governing Board.

As there was no promotion/reclassification policy in place in 2014 there were no promotions/reclassifications for CEPOL staff members.

Contract staff follows the same appraisal policy as outlined for temporary agents above. Similarly, there was no reclassification policy in place for Contract Agents and therefore reclassification has not taken place in 2014.

Annex IV, Section C: Mobility policy

Internal mobility

Internal candidates are encouraged to apply for suitable positions within the agency. Vacancy notices are made accessible internally to all staff via the website.

In 2012 CEPOL implemented a Staff Appraisal scheme. The key features of the scheme are to establish an annual dialogue with management / superior on performance, to set up clear and measurable objectives, to put in place meaningful indicators to measure performance against individual objectives and to guide possible promotion opportunities. The Staff Appraisal scheme is established in accordance with the revised Commission Implementing Rule, with CEPOL being an early adopter of this defined approach.

Mobility between Agencies

CEPOL currently posts all Vacant Notices on its website and also on the EPSO website. CEPOL has signed up for the Inter-agency Job Market but has not yet used this recruitment mechanism, although this is not precluded for the future. CEPOL has the expectation that the introduction of the Implementing Rules for Temporary Agents 2(f) might be helpful in increasing mobility between Agencies; however, due to the relative low grading of CEPOL positions and the low correction coefficient in Hungary there is a significant risk that this will be mainly a vehicle for outwards mobility to other Agencies.

In October 2015 the CEPOL Governing board decided on applying the model decision on engagement of temporary agents 2(f); this decision indicates clearly the need to launch vacancies in principle internally, as inter-agency procedure and externally.

Mobility between the Agencies and the institutions

CEPOL has been successful in recruiting experienced staff from other agencies and institutions. 50% of staff currently employed joined from other agencies or institutions. In 2014, 2 posts became vacant due to staff leaving CEPOL for comparable but higher graded posts in other agencies.

Annex IV, Section D: Gender and geographical balance

At present there is a reasonable gender balance in CEPOL. The ratio between man and women employed by CEPOL is 19 / 20. Within the different staff categories there are some bigger differences in this ratio, especially with regards to SNEs and CAs.

The overrepresentation of men in the category SNEs (4 / 1 on 31 December 2014) has already been addressed when a new SNE started her secondment on 5 January 2015.

The overrepresentation of women in CAs (6 / 2) has changed as well, as two female CAs have terminated their contracts on 31 December 2014. However, in general there seems to be an overrepresentation of women applying for CAs posts.

As there is at present not a significant gender imbalance in CEPOL there are no direct measures foreseen. CEPOL's recruitment is based on a fair and open competition regardless of race, political, philosophical or religious beliefs, gender or sexual orientation, disability or age and without reference to marital status or family situation. CEPOL strives to ensure a gender balance in all its recruitment selection panels.

As there is at present not a significant geographical imbalance in CEPOL there are no direct measures foreseen. CEPOL's recruitment is based on a fair and open competition regardless of race, political, philosophical or religious beliefs, sex or sexual orientation, disability or age and without reference to marital status or family situation. CEPOL strives to ensure geographical balance in all its recruitment selection panels.

Annex IV, Section E: Schooling

There is no European School in Budapest or at a reasonable distance from Budapest. Also, there is no European section in a national school. On the basis of current information, this situation is not foreseen to change in the coming years.

This would lead to the situation where staff members of CEPOL are disadvantaged for not being able to avail their children with education in their mother tongue compared to staff members of other EU institutions and bodies where there is a European school close to their place of employment.

It would also be extremely difficult to promote geographical balance among the staff of the agency if there would not be a facility to provide schooling of the children of staff in a different language than Hungarian.

Based on these considerations, the CEPOL Governing Board decided that CEPOL shall pay the school fees. As a consequence, the school shall be considered as non-fee paying and the staff member concerned shall not receive the education allowance provided for in Article 3 of Annex VII of the Staff Regulations. The costs covered by CEPOL shall be:

- a. The registration and attendance fees
- b. The transportation costs.

All other costs are excluded, in conformity with Commission decision C(2004)131-53-2004 on general implementing provisions for the grant of the education allowance.

ANNEX: VII – Evaluations

1. Internal Evaluation

CEPOL has implemented a performance management system since 2010, to a large extent based on the Balanced Scorecard approach. Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) are used to evaluate the overall success of CEPOL, Performance Indicators (PIs) are in place to evaluate the success of a particular activity in which CEPOL is engaged. All KPIs and PIs are assigned targets, and linked to the Agency's Strategic Goals and Objectives. An important measure is the overall customer satisfaction with training activities provided by CEPOL.

The evaluation of training activities is an essential task for CEPOL to monitor and maintain the quality of training and its impact. CEPOL's evaluation system is based on the Kirkpatrick model, with a methodology specifically adapted to CEPOL's structure and environment. Evaluations are conducted at level 1 (immediately after residential activities, webinars, and the European Police Exchange Programme exchanges and study visits), and at level 3 (post-course evaluations take place after residential activities only). Post-course evaluations are carried out on both participants and their line managers approximately six months after a residential activity has finished.

Further streamlining of the evaluation is planned to improve the efficiency of the process by:

- revising the evaluation methodology (to be approved by the GB by end of 2015);
- developing proposal for certification for participation in selected products.

2. External Evaluation

The way CEPOL operates is evaluated every five years by an independent external evaluator, regarding its utility, relevance, effectiveness and efficiency and its working practices. The main aim of the evaluation is, primarily, to improve the quality of training.

The latest evaluation report has been completed in 2011, the resulting recommendations were fully completed by 2013. Following an evaluation procedure (Open Call) a contract has been awarded on 16 April 2015 to the successful tenderer to conduct the next (second) five-year evaluation of CEPOL. The evaluation will cover the period 2011 to 2015 and it should also combine the evaluation of the European Police Exchange Programme.

The five years evaluation reports completed so far are publicly available here:

<https://www.cepola.europa.eu/who-we-are/key-documents/evaluation-reports>

As provided in the Regulation (EU) No 543/2014⁵⁵ by which the seat of CEPOL was moved to Budapest, the Commission was invited to submit a report on the effectiveness of this Decision following a thorough cost-benefit analysis and impact assessment. The results of the assessment are awaited.

CEPOL is implementing a multi-annual project to certify its Management System based on the ISO 9001:2015 requirements. An independent accredited body is foreseen to audit the Agency's processes from quality management perspective in the last quarter of 2016.

⁵⁵ Regulation (EU) No 543/2014 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 15 May 2014 amending Council Decision 2005/681/JHA establishing the European Police College (CEPOL) (OJ L 163, 29.5.2014, p. 5).

ANNEX: VIII – Risks

Although CEPOL as a whole is generally dealing with low risks, a risk assessment is part of the annual programming cycle. A detailed Risk Register and corresponding mitigating action are in place, and are compiled at the beginning of each year. Risk management at CEPOL is realistic and takes into account cost/benefit aspects in order to avoid disproportionate control measures. All processes that are part of a risk assessment are described and managed accordingly by process owners to ensure that (i) mitigating actions are implemented according to plan, (ii) risks continue to be relevant and (iii) are in line with management's acceptable risk level.

Risks identified are rated based on the likelihood to occur and by their potential impact. In regards to their potential impact, risks are rated in a three dimensional fashion based on the impact on Agency's objectives, financial impact and reputational impact. Thus, risks that have a high rating can be identified and given priority.

Additionally, risks considered critical are indicated in this annex of the programming document (SPD), where respective countermeasures are also included.

Following an impact assessment that has been carried out in the light of the anticipated new legal basis, a number of risk have been identified as critical to the business continuity at CEPOL. These are presented in the current annex and are coupled with actions deemed necessary to mitigate them.
