Negotiated procurement procedure CEPOL/PR/NG/2015/007 – Rebranding of CEPOL

Answers to questions sent by potential tenderers

Question 1

We have received your invitation to tender. Having reviewed your service requirements, we can recommend you another company that is better placed to handle this type of project. Can you send the invitation to tender to them as well? Alternatively can we forward the invitation to tender to them, so that they can send a tender directly to CEPOL?

Answer 1

Under the rules governing the negotiated procurement procedure it is not possible to add candidates after the invitation has been sent by CEPOL and companies that were not invited by CEPOL cannot take over the invitation to tender. Tenders received from companies which were not invited by CEPOL will be rejected.

However it is possible for the invited candidates to rely on other entities, i.e. through subcontracting.
